

Leadership

The National Children's Advocacy Center is a 501c(3) agency which operates under the general supervision of the agency's Executive Director, who reports to a volunteer Board of Directors. The NCAC's Board of Directors consists of up to 20 elected members from varied backgrounds throughout the community and 12 community stakeholders representing partner agencies and key leadership positions within the community. The Board members focus their diverse talents primarily on providing broad oversight and direction to the NCAC.

Executive Director - Chris Newlin, MS LPC

Chris Newlin, MS LPC, is the Executive Director of the National Children's Advocacy Center where he is responsible for providing leadership and management of the NCAC and participating in national and international training and leadership activities regarding the protection of children.
