IMPACT REPORT

You made a difference

From Our Executive Director

Every year, our Annual Report shares a look back at the work accomplished at the National Children’s Advocacy Center, with direct services provided to children and families at the core of our mission. In 2019, the NCAC made some of the greatest leaps forward in care for children that we have seen in many years. More children were served, more families were supported, more professionals were trained, and more lives were impacted than ever before. I have said many times that the best work that we do with clients can not be shared due to the confidential nature of the work we do, however the statistics in this report tell a compelling, powerful story. In addition to the statistics, other highlights of our story:

- Wilson VI arrived at the NCAC in May 2019. As a Facility Dog from Canine Companions for Independence (CCI), Wilson worked with his handlers to engage hundreds of children of all ages in some very difficult circumstances. Wilson has also been a big hit with staff members!
- Dr. Mark Sapp joined the NCAC team, expanding our medical services capacity and expertise. Dr. Sapp has long been our medical advisor and we are thrilled to have him on board in an official capacity.
- Awarded a 3-year grant from the US Department of Justice, Office for Victims of Crime to combat the effects of the opioid crisis on children, building on the foundation our Multidisciplinary Team.
- The 2019 International Symposium on Child Abuse was our largest, most successful symposium to date with record setting attendance.
- Aim for Advocacy and Superhero Shindig, our two fundraising special events, brought in significant funds to support our children’s services while sharing our mission.
- NCAC was invited to participate as trainers in PROMISE3, a European Union funded project to support the development of CACs in Europe, based on the model established here in Huntsville 35 years ago.
- The NCAC was a Best Places to Work finalist for the third year in a row in the Medium-sized company category and won the Silver (2nd) Award!

Executive Director - Chris Newlin, MS LPC

Chris is the Executive Director of the National Children’s Advocacy Center where he is responsible for providing leadership and management of the NCAC and participating in national and international training and leadership activities regarding the protection of children.

All in all, 2019 was a banner year for the NCAC – and the care provided to our community’s children would not have been possible without our supporters. With all NCAC direct services provided at no cost, the work simply could not happen without our donors.

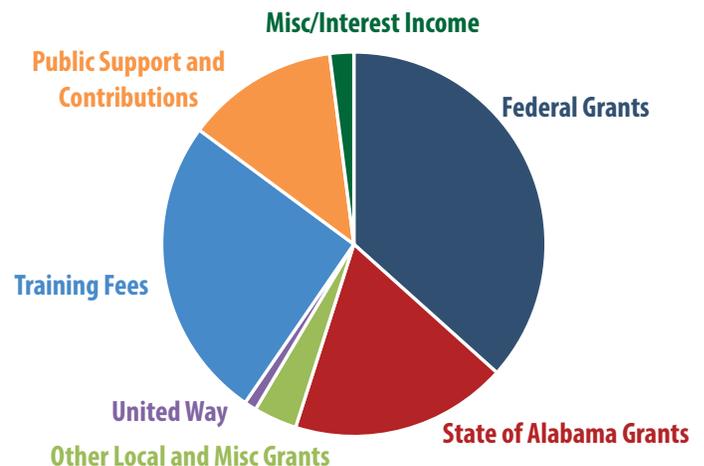

I would be remiss in not acknowledging the uncertain times that we are facing with COVID19 in 2020. Please be assured that the work with children goes on, thanks to you. You and your family remain in my thoughts and prayers as we face these unprecedented times. Our children need us all, now more than ever.

Sincerely,

Chris Newlin
Executive Director

Volunteer Impact

You continue to make a difference at NCAC! The gift of time and resources from volunteers supports the continuation of care for the families and children served at NCAC. With your help, all services are provided at no charge. Your support of our mission helps to deliver excellence in child abuse response and prevention.

In 2019, over 131 volunteers worked on projects for NCAC.

- Give back days to help keep our campus beautiful and clean.
- Mailing and stuffing over 10,000 envelopes for events and update letters.
- Donating and gift wrapping Holiday gifts for our families in need.
- Crafting weighted teddy bears and fleece pillows to comfort children during their therapy sessions and medical exams.
- And . . . much more!

Thank you for investing in the lives of those served at NCAC! If you would like to become a part of our amazing volunteer team, visit our website or contact Paige Beitel at pbeitel@nationalcac.org.
